

Please just refund my money thanks.
It cannot work
You can't even answer your calls. Thanks

If your retainer didn't clear until Friday, then comes the weekend. I never told you I work over weekends nor after 5 pm for that matter

You don't get refunds because I didn't respond to you immediately and that's not dishonesty. You're not my only client!

But it's the weekend now so we can proceed Monday

I call you immediately yesterday 10am to confirm payment and you had a problem.
I have already paid someone else, Who has professional ethics

That's great. Retainers are called retainers as they aren't refundable

I never signed any retainer, you are not professional, you never gave me an agreement to sign, and I don't need your services, so why are you talking about a retainer. You just seem to be making history as you go along. You are very dishonest

Is that what you do to people you meet online, you boost about services you can provide, and look for ways to fight them, so you don't refund their money.
To think you can just take people's money and run and call it a retainer
Are you that hungry and greedy

What are you talking about? I didn't TAKE your retainer. You SENT it after we made an agreement. Then after sending it you went and hired someone else. Well that's what retainers are for - to guarantee payment and in case you break the deal. You broke it. Not me. So you can either let me do the work or not but retainers are non refundable

But it's the weekend now so you can talk to me more Monday

I don't have any work for you, you are a cheat and con
I need my refund,
Can you provide any agreement I had with you.
You take 24 hrs to respond and lie you never got any money, until I provide you a screenshot.
Please stop acting like a Fraudster

Stop giving advice on social media just because you're looking for money, this is deception.

How many times am I going to repeat ITS SATURDAY. We can discuss this more on MONDAY - during normal business hours

I have no business hours with you, I'm not a client, I sent you $500 at 10am yesterday, it took you 24 hours to respond with a lie, trying to deny you never got any money.
That's fraud
I need my money back, because I have no business to discuss with you.
Refund my money ASAP and we can forget each other

Excuse me but deposits take time to post. Your deposit didn't clear until this morning.

I'll talk to you come Monday. I'm going back to my weekend now

Point of correction
I Zelle you payment $500
Immediate deposit, not 24 hrs
I have nothing to say to you, I just need my refund

Why do you keep at this when it's Saturday? I'm not even at the computer! I told you I will address this with you during normal office hours!

I also said the BANK took time to process the payment - which is why I didn't know about it right away. You do know how bank deposits take time to post I assume

Nothing to address
Just send my refund

When shopping for a house you find one and give a down payment. Then you decide on another one. You don't get that down payment back simply because you changed your mind. Down payments are to protect the seller if you do change your mind. Retainers are called retainers, not payment, for the same reason. They're to guarantee payment for the work. Now I'll remind you of my retainer policy on my site by resending that to you. You know the site you acknowledge you've seen? Now just because you found an attorney after finding me doesn't mean I can't still help you. Have the attorney contact me and I'll be happy to do the work for him which will save you on paralegal fees you'd have to pay out anyway to him. You have a credit with me and I'm sure the attorney can put me to good use. Changing your mind doesn't make me guilty of fraud. I never misrepresented anything to you. By your own admission you charged your mind. Which is ok because the attorney will need paralegal support also.
